

THE NEW PLAYS

*Nazimova Tragically Real
In "Ception Shoals"*

BY CHARLES DARNTON

ONLY an actress of intelligence, feeling and imagination could have produced such a play as "Ception Shoals," in which Alla Nazimova appeared last night at the Princess Theatre. Artistic sense, together with defiance of commercial considerations, is to be found in her selection of this play by H. Austin Adams.

Those who seek merely for amusement at the theatre will not find it in "Ception Shoals," for it is a play that will appeal to people who are willing and able to think after dinner. Nothing so unusual and so gripping by an American author has seen the light since Eugene Walter's "Easement Way" and Edwin Sheldon's "Salvation Nell." But where those two plays turned to a great metropolis as a means of working out their problems in women's lives, Mr. Adams' play is concerned with a woman in a far-away, lonely place. The restless, mysterious sea is the symbol of this tragedy.

Part of it, I must admit, is fantastic. In any event, it seems a bit strange that a lighthouse-keeper's daughter should swim two miles at night to make the acquaintance of a man whose gasoline launch has gone aground. Moreover, we found it necessary to accept Mme. Nazimova in a costume that the ordinary theatre-goer associates with Annette Kellermann. No doubt the bare legs of this gifted actress were surprising—though equally charming. For the rest, there was grim realism, with fine acting.

In its simplicity "Ception Shoals"

SAYS ACID STOMACH CAUSES INDIGESTION

Excess of hydrochloric acid sours the food and forms gases.

Undigested food delayed in the stomach delays or rather, ferments the same as food left in the open air, and is most abhorred. He also tells us that Indigestion is caused by Hyperacidity, meaning, there is an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach, which prevents complete digestion and starts food fermentation. Thus everything eaten sourts in the stomach much like garbage sourts in a can, forming acid fluids and gases which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon. Then we feel a heavy, lumpy misery in the chest, we belch up gas, we eructate sour food or have heartburn, flatulence, water-brash or nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead, get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and drink while it is effervescent and furthermore, to continue this for a week. While relief follows the first dose, it is important to neutralize the acidity, remove the gas-making mass, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salt is used by thousands of people for stomach trouble with excellent results.—Advt.
